Embraced in a long newspaper experience has been the acquaintance and close association with many district attorneys, for usually these men have been of a high type, and of attractive and genial personality; officially they have been bent upon conviction above any other consideration. Many criminal cases have passed in review before me during these years, and in a number of instances the evidence has not conclusively demonstrated the defendant's guilt. Yet despite this patent fact the district attorney has insisted that the jury render a verdict of guilty and thereby has turned his office into that of a prosecutor, instead of a prosecutor. It seems that the obsessive motive is to "make a record," irrespective of facts and the ends of justice.

REFRESHING EXCEPTION

It was therefore not only novel but decidedly refreshing to witness the action of District Attorney Frances P. Healey in the Hauptmann case when he advised the jury that the young defendant, in his opinion, was a victim of circumstances; that he thoroughly believed that not only extreme leniency should be shown the defendant, but the ends of justice and humanity would be best served by giving him a chance in life by serving a term in the county jail without branding him with the stigma of a convict.

IT TOOK COURAGE

The recommendations required moral stamina of a high order. It was Mr. Healey's first criminal case since assuming office on the 7th of this month, and he naturally knew that while the defendant was on trial before a jury, he was on trial before the people of the county as to his ability to fill the office to which he had been elected. It was rather a feat.

Many Are Dead As Storm Grips Canadian Areas

VANCOUVER, B. C., Jan. 30.—UP—The province of British Columbia tonight was shaking off the effects of the worst storm and floods in years.

Passengers of a Canadian National railway train snowbound for more than a week in the Boston Bay area reached Vancouver by steamer, via Prince Rupert. They traveled 1700 miles to reach their destination, 150 miles away. Rail lines were washed out in the Fraser river valley, blocking the route even after snowplows freed the train.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. J. Danish were removed from ruins of their house demolished by a landslide at Granite Creek, 10 miles west of Princeton, B. C. They had been dead several days.

Jackie McIntyre, 2, drowned in the flooded basement of his home at Pearsonsville, B. C.

HAUPTMANN WIFE HELPS HIS DEFENSE

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 30.—UP—The State will check the testimony of Elbert Carlstrom, defense alibi witness who testified he saw Bruno Richard Hauptmann in the Bronx on the night of the Lindbergh kidnapping, with a view toward ascertaining if perjury was committed. Special Prosecutor G. K. Large said tonight.

Large indicated that several allegedly apparent discrepancies in the witness' story, told on the stand today, would be checked through a transcript of the testimony, and that action might be taken against the Swedish carpenter's assistant.

TO BE CHECKED

"The purpose of this check will be to determine if anything the witness said on cross examination is in conflict with statements he made on direct examination," Large said.

Another State official said "there are a lot of things that will stand a 'wide' check." Among the statements of the witness, who said he saw Hauptmann "laughing at me" in Fredrickson's bakery on the night of March 1, 1932, and who was waiting on that night by Hauptmann's wife, Anna, the State may pay particular attention to:

TEST STORY

The statement of Carlstrom that he saw a photograph of Hauptmann with his attorney, Edward J. Kelly, several weeks before the Brooklyn lawyer entered the case.

The apparently conflicting dates when the witness said he first saw a photograph of the prisoner and recognized it as the man he had seen on March 1, 1932, Carlstrom testified, he recognized the picture in September, 1934, after

PRESIDENT'S BALL DRAWS HUGE CROWD

Citizens of Richmond and surrounding towns last night gathered at the Memorial hall at the second annual President's Birthday Ball.

All expectations of committee members were shattered by the tremendous crowd that filled the hall to overflowing. There is no possible manner in which the number present last night can be estimated, or even estimated. The main dancing room was completely crowded by a sea of throngs. Shortly before ten o'clock it was found that not another dancer could be admitted to the hall, without either removing a wall or enforcing new traffic regulations on the ballroom floor.

OPEN SECOND HALL

As a result, one of the lodge halls upstairs was thrown open, the carpet was rolled off, chairs were removed and the overflow of dancers was escorted to the second hall. Jack Cunningham and George Burton then hooked up a loud speaker to a microphone suspended above the orchestra stage and dancers in both halls enjoyed the music of Gay Vargass and his orchestra.

E. L. Orr was chairman of the committee in charge of the successful affair. Shortly before the dancing started he introduced Mayor

Cleanup Of County Is Demand Of Grand Jury

They converged on Martinez yesterday in droves, humming: "We're headed for the last roundup"—maybe.

The hummers of the shabby but cheerful tune were the justices of the peace and constables of the various townships in Contra Costa county, and the clarion call for their assemblage was "rounded thru the grand jury subpoena horn, summoning these minor officials to appear and give an account of their stewardship—in other words what they are doing to earn their emoluments and how they are doing it. The district attorney and the sheriff were also bidden to the present and accepted, as did Captain George A. Belon of the highway patrol.

DEMAND CO-OPERATION

The entire afternoon was devoted to different phases of the duties of the peace officers, and it was a very interesting meeting.

Foreman W. Lewis of Crockett, was the spokesman for the jury. He told the peace officers that the inquisitorial body desired their voluntary co-operation and if it was not forthcoming, that summary action could be expected to follow.

DEMANDS CLEAN-UP

The foreman also told the visitors he knew they had been before the jury each year, but that this visit was different from any in the past. He asserted that conditions in different parts of the county, in the eastern, central and western sections of the county were bad, and there had to be a clean-up made. A continuance of the present situation

Sign Painter Fined $75 In Police Court

EL CERRITO, Jan. 30.—J. D. Brenner, of San Francisco, was fined $75 by Police Judge A. G. Thompson tonight on charges of violating a city ordinance regulating painting of signs.

Brenner was arrested in December, pleaded not guilty and asked a jury trial. Last week he appeared in court, acted as his own attorney during a five hour trial. A jury, however, found him guilty as charged. Homer Patterson, deputy district attorney, prosecuted the case.

SUSPECT IN CUSTODY IS GIVEN ALIBI

SAN MATEO, Jan. 30.—UP—A step-father who two years ago faced a charge of assault with intention to commit murder tonight came under questioning as police hunted the slayer of titian-haired Kathleen Robinson, 26.

Sheriff J. J. McGrath announced that Alfred Uhl, step-father of the girl, would be questioned. McGrath said that police records had revealed that Uhl was arrested February 25, 1932 on the assault charge, and served a six months' sentence, with 10 years' probation.

GIRL IS BURIED

Uhl assertedly attempted to shoot his mother, Mrs. Lottie Uhl.

While questioning of suspects and witnesses in the case continued, the girl was buried today. Florencio Alcalde, 22, one of those questioned in connection with the slaying, wept as he stood at the white-clad body, a red rose held in one hand.

"She looks swell, doesn't she?" he murmured. He was not permitted to attend the funeral.

MOTHER FAINTS

That ceremony was abruptly interrupted when Alcalde's mother, Mrs. Frank Alcalde, suddenly cried out as she stood beside the bier.

"Find the one who killed her. My boy didn't kill her. Bring in the guilty man!" She fainted and was carried from the chapel.

Despite the fact that Police Chief Thomas Burke indicated he believed Alcalde's denials that he was connected with the killing the youth was held for further interrogation. A street car crew today reportedly confirmed Alcalde's story of having boarded a car near his San Bruno home Saturday night, and going to San Mateo about 9 P. M.

Miss Robinson's body was found shortly after 11 P. M. the same night. She had been shot through the head.

Officials Go On Slumming Party

District Attorney Francis Healey, his deputy Homer Patterson, and Chief of Police R. R. Cheek of El Cerrito, were on a slumming tour last evening. They were securing data to be used when the hearing on the injunction case of the Cerrito Club comes up for final determination. The club at the county line was packed with players and when the officials first appeared on the scene, there was a flurry of excitement, and moves to duck out of the back door were imminent, but when the "members" were told that the preliminary injunction was still in effect, quiet was restored and the game went merrily on.

It was agreed with Attorney Will S. Robinson, who represents the club, and the district attorney, that a statement of facts should be presented and agreed upon, and then the case would be submitted on briefs. Accordingly the case will not come to a hearing, as scheduled, in the Superior court this morning.

When they completed their tour of inspection, they were in possession of membership cards, club dues receipts, vote cards, and prize cards, and were told just how the club was being operated.

Four Are Killed When Passenger Plane Hits Cliff

SKAGWAY, Alaska, Jan. 30.—UP—The bodies of four men killed when an airplane struck a cliff near the summit of White Pass were brought to Skagway today by a railway snow plow crew.

The dead were Pilot Lawrence Nuchleisen, John R. Zurdt of Vancouver, B. C., Archie King and C. C. Larsen, both of Dawson.

The International Airway transport plane took off from here for Dawson, Yukon Territory, at noon today. Apparently the pilot was unable to gain sufficient altitude in a snowstorm to clear the high pass. The plane fell in wreckage at the bottom of a cliff. A rotary snow plow on the White Pass and Yukon railroad reached a point near the wreckage and recovered the bodies.

Railroad men said the crash apparently was caused by a heavy snowstorm which obscured the vision of the pilot. Wreckage of the cabin plane dropped on the roof of a railway snowplow.

EL CERRITO MAN

AN El Cerrito man, H. B. Hall, 61, 1621 San Pablo avenue, was the hero of a fire at a service station in East Oakland yesterday morning. According to police reports, Jack McDonald of Oakland, accompanied by two friends, stopped his lumber truck at a service station owned by Hall on East Fourteenth street. While a reserve gasoline tank was being filled, the gas became ignited and McDonald's clothing caught afire. Hall seized the first extinguisher and when McDonald fell, Hall pulled him over and over in the fog-wet pavement and extinguished the fire.

Hall then summoned the fire department to extinguish the blaze that was threatening the truck. McDonald is at an Oakland hospital, suffering from critical burns which are sweeping this island.

BEARS, CARDS WILL MEET IN CAGE CONTEST

BERKELEY, Jan. 30.—Hoping to retrieve their lost cage fortunes, the University of California basketball team travels to Stanford Friday evening to meet the Indians in the second contest of their annual four-game series.

The Bears slumped to third place in the conference standings last week-end by reason of defeats in two stinging contests with USC Trojans, but hope to make the first step in their comeback climb at the expense of the Indians.

The Bears won the opening game of the Stanford series 54 to 31.

Yearling teams of the two institutions will open the evening's program at 6:30 o'clock, meeting for the first time this season. The strong Trojans have proved tough for all opposition, thanks to the fast hitting ability of their captain Angelo Luisetti, who has an average of nearly 20 points per game. The Bears yearling team, after a slow start, have appeared to find themselves, winning their last three starts against Santa Clara freshmen, S. P. Poly high and Sacramento U. C.

The varsity game will start at 8:00 P. M.

FOUR MEMBERS OF BEAR CREW STRICKEN ILL

BERKELEY, Jan. 30.—If the "flu" bugs move out of the ASUC boat-house, California crews will get down to some real rowing this week.

After one week of rowing, "flu" has claimed four victims in the varsity stroke, Dick Burnley and the junior varsity stroke, Ken Oulte. The other victims are John Adams, Jaycee No. 4, and Ed Goree, bow men in the second boat.

While none of the four is seriously ill, little rowing will be expected of any of them this week. Coach Carroll M. "Ky" Elbright said today.

Up to the time the "epidemic" struck the Bear crew, Elbright had boasted the 1934 Pouchkepske champions as a unit in the varsity boat, and with Burnley out for the time being, there are still seven of the champions in the first shell, Jack Yates, ordinarily No. 2 man, shifted into Burnley's slide at No. 8. Yates' place has been taken by Bob Walker, Jaycee No. 2.

The varsity boat now includes Yates at stroke; Laurence Dodge, 7; Ford Elvin, 6; Ray Andresen, 5; Carroll Brigham, 4; Ewald Swanson, 3; Bob Walker, 2; Frank Dunlap bow and Reg Watt, coxswain.

"Upon graduation you can't get to work too soon. After you get that sheepskin you can't plug too hard."

While openly condoning substitution, Dr. Sutherland said he had no sympathy for the gridders who doesn't aim for scholastic perfection.

"I tell my players every year that if they are in school only to play football, I don't want them on the squad, because if a student goes through four years of college and has nothing to show for it at the end but a diploma—well, I pity him."

BALLHAWKS OF CALIFORNIA TO PLAY SATURDAY

BERKELEY, Jan. 30.—Opening the 1935 campaign which they hope will bring them their third straight California Intercollegiate championship, members of the California baseball varsity will meet Ted Webb's California Alumni next Saturday, at Edwards field. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock.

The Webb's Alumni game, having become an institution on the Bear schedule, opens an ambitious 36-game schedule, including 15 contests under C. I. B. A. auspices.

The Bear nine, winners of the pennant in 1933 and 1934, go into the 1935 campaign with virtually the same team as they had last year, with the notable exception of a pitcher, Bill Peterson, and a shortstop, Ed Hallauer, who contributed plenty to the Blue and Gold success. Peterson was the leading hurler of the league, with seven straight victories and no defeat, and Hallauer was the spark of a crack infield. The Bears also lose George Relles, slugging outfielder, who was second in the league batting average.

Coach Clinton "Clint" Evans, starting his sixth season as head coach, can field an all letter veteran team if he wants to, although a few newcomers are expected to move into the picture by the time the league season is under way. The senior Bear mentor, who has piloted five teams to a total of 62 victories in 78 starts in C. I. B. A. competition, will be able to call upon two veteran catchers in Arleigh Williams and John Lilly, who shared the regular duties last year.

His pitchers include Joe Gallison and Art Bloom, right handers and Charlie Hardt, Bill Daoust and "Lefty" McManigal, left handers, all veterans. Of the group, Hardt, pitched the most in league competition, winning three and losing one. Gallison, Hardt and Daoust all pitched once to victory, with no defeat in league competition.

Infield veterans include Jim Grilk, first base; Al Sanchez, the league's leading hitter in 1934, with a .375 average, second base; and Captain Del Thompson, third base. Bart Smythe, also a third baseman, may get the call to replace Hallauer at shortstop, although strong competition is expected from a number of new men, including Joe Koral, transfer from Sacramento J. C.; Vincent Fite, from Pasadena J. C.; Kiyomitsu Nogami, a member of last year's squad; Don Fowler, better known as a football half-back, and Bob Palmer, of the 1934 freshmen.

STATE SCORES IN TRIAL OF ARMY OFFICER

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 30.—UP—The government proceeded cautiously today in its second attempt to convict Major Charles A. Shepard on charges that he poisoned his wife, Zenana, at Fort Riley in 1929.

Prosecutors charge that the army officer, now retired at 63, murdered his second wife so that he might marry Miss Grace Brandon, blond army stenographer, he courted at San Antonio.

LIFE SENTENCE

He was convicted in 1930 and sentenced to life imprisonment. The United States Supreme court reversed the case because Mrs. Clara Brown, Mrs. Shepard's nurse, in her fatal illness testified at the first trial that Mrs. Shepard had poisoned her.

"The reverberating clang of those words would drown out all the weak sounds in the ears of the jury," the court ruled in declaring this testimony "beyond evidence."

NURSE ON STAND

So today when the government placed the nurse in the witness box, prosecutors phrased questions and guided her answers with painstaking care. They sought to reenact the scene between the stricken woman and her nurse, without the dialogue that ensued.

Defense counsel has not denied that Mrs. Shepard died of mercury poisoning. But denial is made that poison was administered by Major Shepard, now married to his third wife.

TELLS DEFENSE

Mrs. Zenana Shepard was an alcoholic and took an excess of a mouth wash containing mercury, defense attorneys say. Army medical officers who made a post mortem examination have testified to finding mercury poison and ulcers in Mrs. Shepard's vital organs.

Women outnumbered men three to one in the courtroom today for the largest attendance of the trial so far. Many brought lunches, but they were ousted when bailiffs cleared the courtroom for the noon recess.

STAR WITNESS

Miss Brandon, reluctant government witness, arrived today. Among the women to hear her will be the present Mrs. Shepard, formerly Mrs. Alice Watt of Denver.

Mrs. Watt and a married daughter by a former marriage sit with Major Shepard. They wear different ensembles in the latest mode each day.

FOUND DEAD WITH BULLET HOLE IN HEAD

MARTINEZ, Jan. 30.—Discovery this morning of the dead body of Pete Mallpatis, 35, of Port Chicago in his home, a bullet wound in the head, confronted officers today with determination of whether his death was due to suicide or murder.

On Mallpatis' body Constable William Ludrick and Deputy Sheriff Sal Janno and Louis Jampoldi found $2.20. In the pockets of trousers in a closet they discovered two cashiers' checks for $1,800, money Mallpatis apparently intended to utilize for a contemplated trip to Greece.

While physical conditions might indicate suicide, officers were engaged in checking upon apparent chisel marks at one window of the home, prints as though made by shoes at another window and a box, under one of them.

Mallpatis had been shot behind the left ear. The bullet, X-rays showed, pursued a straight course through his skull and brain, finally emerging from the left side of his head. Slight powder burns are evident.

Officers found in the home the picture of a girl, whom they expected to question to learn the identity of close friends of the man.

Mallpatis had resided at Port Chicago for several years, doing odd jobs. Acquaintances said they did not know he possessed a gun. His body has been removed to the Guy funeral parlors at Concord.

By L. M. WISE

er a tough spot for the young man to find himself in and the fact that the equities instead of personal ambition ruled, is greatly to his credit.

MADE NO MISTAKE

Mr. Healy made no mistake. People generally have a deep, innate sense of fair play, and contrary to the ideas of most district attorneys, do not demand convictions when there is no justification for them. Their approbation is earned when the prosecutor evidences the fact that he is fair and impartial, and is striving to subserve the ends of justice, rather than the building up of a conviction record.

KEE'S WATERS ROILED

That stormy petrel of Pittsburgh politics, Councilman Max Grabstein just will not be kept down. A few months ago, in an unguarded moment, Max chanced to be on the receiving end of a blow that landed squarely on the button and knocked him out of the police commissioner's office. Then to add insult to injury someone attempted to put the bee on Max by sending him $50 in marked money. The sinister contribution was donated by the councilman to a milk fund for poor children.

MUNICIPAL FIREWORKS

Max can be depended upon every so often to pull off sensational politics in the municipality where he lives, moves, and has his being. Having been quiescent for some time he decided it was time for another pyrotechnic display, so at the council meeting last Monday night he proceeded to shoot off a few plain and fancy rockets, which made the boys sit up and take notice.

SOMETHING SMELLS BAD

I have no desire to pass upon the morals of a sister city, having found that the man who lets such subjects strictly alone, is on safer ground than he who essays to the role of reformer either home or abroad. However, there should be no lapse in accepting the word of authority on the subject like Mr. Grabstein, and if he is to be believed there is a merry game in progress in that community kicking the "Ten Commandments" and various legal statutes around like a football. And believe it or not there is an Al Capone of the underworld there, whose identity will soon be dragged into public view, obliquely and scorn.

BORN THAT WAY

Some cities like some individuals seem to be destined for tumultuous careers. Trouble comes to them like steel filings to a magnet. They're just born that way, I presume. Within less than a year Pittsburg has had a heated controversy over its form of government with opposing sides taking the matter to court; a rumormongering about alleged lack of cement in the high school structure; the town divided into hostile camps over a new water supply; arrests made for the alleged payment of money for protection for houses of ill-fame; the threatened resignation of the mayor on many occasions and other things of minor import. Life apparently does not lack zest and variety for the ordinary citizen there, and as for newspapermen, with stories breaking loose nearly every day it should be a real paradise.

Saved by new Vitamins of Cod Liver Oil in tasteless tablets.

Pounds of firm healthy flesh instead of bare scraggy bones! New vigor, vim and energy instead of tired listlessness! Steady quiet nerves! That is what thousands of people are getting through scientific laboratory discovery—the Vitamins of Cod Liver Oil concentrated in little sugar coated tablets without any of its hated, fishy taste or smell.

McCoys' Cod Liver Oil Tablets, they're called "Cod Liver Oil in Tablets", and they simply work wonders. A little boy of 1, suddenly sick, got well and gained 10½ lbs. in just one month. A girl of thirteen after the same disease, gained 5 lbs. the first week and 2 lbs. each week after. A young mother who could not eat or sleep after baby came got all her health back and gained 10 lbs. in less than a month.

You simply must try McCoys' at once. Remember if you don't gain at least 2 lbs. of firm healthy flesh in a month get your money back. Demand and get McCoys'—the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablets approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. Refuse all substitutes based on the original McCoys'—there are none better.

Hollywood Film Shop

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 30.—UP—Who are the bravest Hollywood picture players

Courage is what it takes to pluck the fair lady off the run-away horse in a Western, to stunt a plane into a crash in front of the approaching express train, to jump the cliffs and burning buildings while doubling for a star who wants in safety.

But that's a glamorous, hopeful courage, compared to that of the graying troopers who drew the lavish pay checks ten years ago, and are now doing the wheelhorse tasks while the 1935 stars set the close-ups and the thrilling speeches.

It was a courageous group which sat about a table in a set portraying "The annual banquet of the National Bankers' Association." The popular conception of a banker is a middle-aged, dignified, gray-haired, his wife, plump, matronly. Both must know how to handle themselves socially at such a function as a banquet.

Ordinary extras never would do, so nearly all veteran actors and actresses were selected, most of

URUGUAY FACES WORST REVOLT IN MANY YEARS

BUENOS AIRES, Argentine, Jan. 30.—Fighting raged in the Uruguay, an international today between loyal Federal troops and rebels seeking desperately to overthrow President Gabriel Terra.

Advised from the war zone said a rebel force of 1,000 men under command of the "Banda" attacked a Federal scouting party in Cerro Largo department on Uruguay's northeastern frontier.

Authoritative sources at Parana, Argentina, reported fighting resumed in Colonia, in the southwest and in Maldonado, east of Montevideo, Uruguayan capital, contradicting official claims the uprising was near an end.

REVOLT SPREADS

The reports tended to show the revolution was still spreading in a such confederate at a distance from the capital.

An official announcement denied news of "grave events" declaring the subversive movement consisted of "small revolutionary groups without importance."

Montevideo was quiet but all roads leading to the interior were kept under strict vigilance. Arrest made yesterday were announced a 7, bringing the total during the four days disturbances upwards to 100.

REAL TESTS

The fighting reported today may be a real test of strength between the government and its challenger. Previous engagements due to the fact the present groups, were unable to effect a junction for a real stand against the combine strength of loyal police, military and air forces, have been indecisive.

There were no whines, no lamentations for the "good old days." Between scenes they read, played bridge, or exchanged lively badinage.

There's more than one kind of courage in Hollywood.

Water Run-Off Totals As Much As Last Season

Local reservoirs of the East Bay Municipal Utility District have already enjoyed as much run-off as came to them during the entire season of last year, according to the current report of John S. Longwell, chief engineer and general manager. The run-off to date is nearly two billion gallons, and if more rain falls before the ground dries out, the run-off this year will constitute a substantial addition to the water storage, the first time this has occurred in several years.

Rainfall has been heavy, both at Pardee reservoir and at the local reservoirs, the report indicated. Snow in the mountains was 159 inches a week ago and has packed down to 148 inches, insuring long and heavy flow of water into Lake Pardee when the snow begins to melt. Last year at this time the snow pack was less than five feet. Rains in the lower part of the watershed and melting of some snow are at present causing the Pardee reservoir to rise approximately six inches a day.

Pardee reservoir now contains over 16 billion gallons of water, and local reservoirs hold approximately 15 billion gallons. Water consumption is averaging 26,400,000 gallons daily. For the fiscal year to date the consumption has averaged 34,500,000 gallons daily, as compared with 33,190,000 gallons daily during the previous year.

Don't Take Pills For Constipation

Ordinary pills taken to relieve constipation merely force a movement of the bowels without making the liver discharge its excess bile. That's why the trouble returns in a day or two and you have to swallow more pills.

What every constipated person needs is a good liver tonic like Plantax to thoroughly cleanse the digestive system of all foul secretions and at the same time restore the torpid liver to proper working order. When this is done you will no longer have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter taste, sour stomach, gas, bilious attacks or other symptoms of constipation and liver trouble.

Plantax is made from the juices of harmless medicinal plants—Nature's own remedy—that act in a mild, easy way without "working on" or irritating the organs. Try it tonight. Large bottle 50¢ and small 25¢.

Japan - Poland Enter Pact To Bottle Up Slavs

LONDON, Jan. 30—UP—A secret military agreement between Japan and Poland, bottling up Russia on the eastern and western frontiers, was reported in diplomatic circles today.

The president rumor, accepted as authentic in European foreign offices, first leaked out by Paris, where the semi-official newspaper Le Temps published it.

Commentators tonight shunned reference to the alleged alliance but privately believed the agreement aimed at Russia.

According to diplomatic sources the alleged understanding provides for pooling information on military and air force training, notably technical equipment.

The Poles offer, among other things, their modern knowledge of aerial warfare in return for Japanese advanced technique in use of land armaments.

Federal Help Asked To End Long's Regime

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 30—UP—"Square Dealers" appealed tonight to President Roosevelt and Congress to send a committee to Louisiana to investigate Senator Huey Long's dictatorship, which they said "was calculated to bring the people into armed revolt."

The Square Deal Association, an organization of citizens dedicated to the overthrow of the Long machine said, "We appeal to you, Mr. President, in the sense of humanity and justice."

The message suggested that prominent men, "not political office holders" be sent to view conditions here. Meanwhile angry citizens were mobilized in half a dozen parishes. Their leaders frankly discussed prospects of civil war.

A climax was anticipated this week when Long is expected to convene his state legislature to complete his stranglehold on the state.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

By C. N. CHRISMAN, M.D.

How a Doctor Looks Over the System According to What Complaint Patient Makes

WHY must you put out your tongue when the doctor examines you? That is only the first step toward the general examination of the entire mouth cavity.

We look carefully at the tongue. Is it coated, and what kind of a coating? Is it red or glazed or dry? Is it furry and with little red or white spots? This is the strawberry tongue of scarlet fever.

We look at the palate. Scarlet fever shows spots on the palate twenty-four hours before they appear on the skin. Measles show red blotches on the palate several days before the eruption on the body. The teeth are examined to see if they may be causing trouble. The gums are carefully inspected to find if pyorrhea is present and to what extent.

Are there any pus pockets about the teeth and gums that may be poisoning the system. Are the gums and lips pale, showing anemia. A dark line along the gums might indicate lead poisoning.

The patient complains of sore throat and the throat is inspected. Is there a general redness and congestion, or is it only local? Are the tonsils present, are they swollen and inflamed? Are they covered with spots or a membrane? Have they pus in them, are they causing obstruction to breathing?

THE nose is investigated for obstruction by bone spurs or congested turbinates, inflammation, or for disease. We look in the ear to see if the channel is blocked with wax, whether there are any little boils and if the drum is inflamed or bulging.

We look at the eyes to see the condition of the pupils, whether dilated or contracted. Then we cover them up, shutting out the light for a few minutes, then suddenly expose them to light to determine how they react to light and whether each one reacts the same as the other. This may show if there is any eye trouble.

We tap on the tendon just below the knee cap to test the reflexes or nerve response. Standing erect with the eyes closed, the patient is asked to perform various simple actions that may disclose certain unhealthy or diseased conditions of the spinal cord.

We take a drop of blood from the lobe of the ear or end of finger and compare the color of the blood with that of a colored scale to determine the per cent of hemoglobin. Then we take a sample of blood to be sent to the laboratory to be examined for red and white corpuscle count.

All this time we have been observing the patient, his actions, color, attitude, and mental response, gaining a great deal of knowledge to help determine his physical, mental, or nervous condition.

WE TALKED yesterday about taking the temperature, and how much that disclosed of possible infection. We do not do all these things to one patient, but all these methods are approved in making diagnoses, and we use them as needed.

Query from M. N., who is embarrassed by a large nose and wants to know about plastic surgery. This form of relief is a boon to many, but like other fine things is much abused. An operation of this sort might mean marked improvement in this case, but I cannot give a personal reference in the column. Consult the official medical society in your nearest large city. They can advise you properly.

Query — Barbara: I wrote on eczema a few months ago. Before any suggestion can be made for the individual case, we have to know a good deal about your systemic condition and your living habits. There is no way to tell how long it would take for a cure. Eczema can be a blood disturbance, an acid stomach condition, or an allergy for some particular articles of food. However stubborn, eczema can be cured or at least controlled.

Concerning Questions
Dr. Chrisman offers readers the privilege of addressing questions to him care of this paper. He will answer questions of general interest in his regular daily column on this page.

SOME of the beauty aids on your dressing table might well have their origin in your kitchen if you enjoy making things for yourself, or if you cannot afford to experiment until you find the creams and tonics best suited for your skin.

The really complicated cosmetics like face creams and corrective preparations had best be left to expert chemists and manufacturers, but there is no reason why the simple things can not be made at home when ever you feel like it. Get out your little glass custard cups, a tiny rotary egg beater, and an enamel double boiler and begin.

You will need a cake of cocoa butter, a tube of toilet lanoline, and a bottle of mineral oil or olive oil for an excellent softening cream for the very dry skin. Shave some of the cocoa butter into small pieces and melt before in a saucepan. Set into a pan of hot water to keep hot. You will need a few other small containers. Into one pour three tablespoons of the lanoline and into the other three tablespoons of the mineral oil.

When the oils have been thoroughly heated, pour into a larger dish or double boiler, measuring out three tablespoons of the melted cocoa butter, and adding to the other ingredients. Take the small egg beater and beat the oils together as they cool so they form a creamy, fluffy white mass. Put into a sterilized jar and keep in a cool place until all has been used. This is an inexpensive cream, since you will get three or four batches of cream from your original investment.

If your skin is normal—or inclined to be a little dry—you can make a simple skin tonic as follows: Put a pint of water into a clean pan and boil five minutes. Just before the time is up add two heaping teaspoons boric acid powder and when thoroughly dissolved pour the hot solution into a clean bottle and stop with clean, absorbent cotton. Use as much of this as you wish with an equal amount of witch hazel and a few drops of eau de Cologne. Chill thoroughly before using for best results.

The oiler skin will benefit by a simple home made astringent. Break a fresh egg and separate the white from the yolk. Pour the white into a small bottle and to it add one ounce of rose water. Cork the bottle and shake vigorously. If you keep this in a corner of the refrigerator it will keep about a week, when you should mix a fresh supply.

Use the astringent each night after cleansing, rinse with cold water and dry, then brush on an application of the lotion. Let dry and apply more. Leave on for half an hour, then rinse off with cool water and give the skin a swift going-over with a piece of ice wrapped in a piece of gauze or old linen.

Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, Is Back to Private Life, But Most People Do Not Expect Him to Stay There

IN PRIVATE life for the first time in nearly twenty years, Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, it doesn't seem right to leave off the "Governor" smilingly says he has gone back to the practice of law. But his eyes shine as he makes the statement and his hearers wonder if he isn't thinking about making a comeback as Governor four years hence or trying again for the Presidential nomination in '36.

Governor — pardon — Mr. Ritchie has served four terms as the head man of Maryland. Last November friends tried to make him run for U. S. Senator, but he preferred the governorship. He lost. However, Ritchie has a strong political organization of his own, and no one believes he is doomed to obscurity.

The ex-governor has always been prominent in Maryland. Although he was born in Richmond, Virginia, in 1876, his father was Supreme Court Judge Albert Ritchie of Baltimore. The son spent his early days in Baltimore, and after attending private schools there he entered Johns Hopkins University, being graduated in 1896. He later received an LL.B.

QUESTION: "I have a double problem. My mouth spoils my whole appearance. The upper lip is covered by a 'mustache' and I have a large mole just below by lower lip and toward the corner of my mouth. Please tell me how to remove these defects or conceal them."

ANSWER: Why not consult a physician about the mole? Any kind of moles can be removed quite easily and inexpensively, while others should not be tampered with. Your doctor is the one to advise you. If he says "leave it alone" then you should do so. A flat mole can sometimes be made less conspicuous by painting it with a tinted powder lotion. The superfluous hair on your upper lip can be made less conspicuous by bleaching it if the hairs are very fine and not too thick. Get a 1% vol. peroxide for bleaching. If the hairs are dark and heavy, you had better pull them out with the wax depilatory, or have them removed by an expert electrolysis operator.

QUESTION: "I have a patch of hair on my face which is very noticeable. Please tell me how I can bleach it with peroxide."

ANSWER: See the advice to the young lady above. Sponge the peroxide on the hairs and let dry. Several applications may be needed to completely bleach the hairs. May I remind you that a stamped, self-addressed envelope should accompany your letter if you want a personal reply?

Avocados Are Fast Becoming Fruit Standby in Households

By JUDITH WILSON

FRUIT lovers who rebel at the lack of variety in the fruits available during the winter months will appreciate having avocados served frequently. The avocado is a relatively newcomer to the markets, but in the past few years has become increasingly popular and increasingly plentiful with the result that the price is modest enough for the ordinary food budget.

The avocado (or alligator pear) when properly ripened has mild, rich, buttery flesh a slight cream shading to pale green in coloring. The flesh surrounds a single large pit and is covered by a leathery skin a bright green or brownish green in color. In selecting avocados pick those that yield slightly to the pressure of the entire hand, but that are free from soft spots.

Since the flavor of the avocado is so bland it combines well with oranges, grapefruit, pineapple and other definitely flavored foods. When served alone pass wedges of lemon and the salt shaker to give the avocado character and bring out its delicate flavor. Here are recipes that will brighten up your family meals or make you famous as a hostess.

Avocado with Crabflakes
Have two small avocados and remove the pits. Dip the cut edges in lemon juice to prevent discoloration and put in the refrigerator to chill. Mix one and one-fourth cups shredded crabflakes with one-half cup finely chopped celery, one-fourth spoon salt, a pinch of white pepper and a few drops of oil or juice or a little finely grated onion. Toss lightly with one-fourth cup Mexican sauce and fill the avocado halves. Garnish with chopped hard-cooked egg whites on one side and sieved yolks on the other. Place two rows strips of pineapple in the center. Serve on a bed of lettuce with wedges of lemon. This makes four generous servings.

Mexican Sauce
Place one-half cup canned tomatoes, one-fourth cup chili sauce, two tablespoons grated horseradish, one-fourth cup vinegar, tablespoon prepared mustard, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon curry powder, a pinch of pepper, two tablespoons chopped parsley and one-half teaspoon lemon juice in a saucepan and cook slowly until thickened. Strain immediately and chill. This makes about three-fourths cup dressing. When ready to use, mix with tart mayonnaise, one part of the sauce to two of mayonnaise.

Fruit Salads with Avocado
Mix together one-half cup diced fresh pineapple, one-half cup powdered sugar, one cup of orange sections that have been cut in halves, one cup grapefruit sections cut into three pieces, one-half cup diced apricots, one diced flesh of one avocado, one

MODES AND MANNERS

QUESTION: "Recently after a friend had departed I found a box of candy, which presumably had been intended for me, as a hostess gift. I decided to call my friend, anyway, to tell her that she had left a package behind. I know that I embarrassed her. But she had done the same thing before. Shouldn't a guest present the gift to the person for which it is intended?—Mrs. C. B. N."

ANSWER: Of course she should. But unfortunately many people are self-conscious or lacking in grace for some other reason. If the occasion is a birthday the gift bearer should say, "Here's a birthday remembrance for you." If it is just a friendly visit and the gift is candy, "I've brought something for your sweet tooth." Or merely to hand a gift to one's hostess with a gracious smile is enough. Gifts must be presented.

QUESTION: "Should a lady shake hands when introduced?"

ANSWER: The lady takes the initial step in the matter of shaking hands. But should the gentleman extend his hand to her, she does not ignore it. It would be rude to do this.

SPELLING WORD FAILS TO FOOL THIS TINY GIRL

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

LITTLE ELLEN is very fond of applesauce. You can get her to eat anything, even some dish for which she does not care especially, providing you remember to add a little applesauce to the side. Ellen's mother always tries to have applesauce on hand. When the fruit is in season, she keeps her pantry stocked with canned applesauce. But even so, on frequent occasions she finds herself without applesauce to serve. Usually the discovery is made just as Ellen is about to eat.

At such times, mother will turn to dad. "There is no applesauce," she will spell. "What'll I do? Will you get some?" Generally dad answers, "Yes," dons his hat and coat and is off to the corner grocery and back in almost less time than it takes to tell about it.

Recently I was present when there was no applesauce. Then mother spelled across to dad, and he signaled back, waving his finger from side to side, and shaking his head vigorously, "no."

"Very well then," mother said rather dejectedly, "I'll go get the table."

Beside me on the couch sat Ellen. She had been studying her picture book the last time I had observed her, but now she was snickering behind her hand. Father meanwhile had followed mother into the kitchen, either to console her or to see whether they could not devise some substitute for applesauce. I looked over Ellen's shoulder. "What's so funny in that book?" I asked.

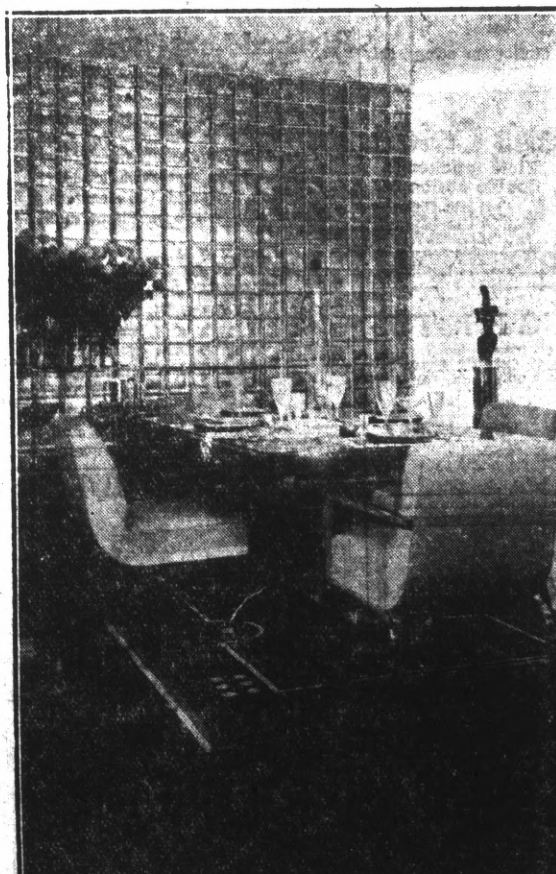

The child removed her hand from her mouth. "It isn't the book. It's mother and daddy. They're so funny when there is no applesauce." And then she mimicked her mother. "A-p-p-l-e," etc. Here was a child too young for school; she could not read nor write, but she could spell "applesauce."

The moral is, do not make a practice of spelling, or using long, difficult words or foreign words before the children as many parents do. You cannot talk over children's heads. They have a way of finding out or of divining our meaning. So be careful not to arouse their curiosity in this way. Share your secrets in private.

MODERN WOMEN

By MARIAN MATS MARTIN

Tax on Bachelors Might Indicate How Many Men Really Prefer the Unwedded State

A TAX on bachelors might be in order at this time when the government is sitting up nights thinking up ways and means of taxation. Mussolini thought of that one and has already increased it. I think the tax on unmarried Italian males.

I imagine the excitement in the United States if some such tax were imposed on marriageable young men who have become artful dodgers from determined and designing ladies. It would be rather fun to try it. Mr. President, and I wonder that Mrs. Roosevelt has not already suggested it to you.

Hitler's method is probably even more drastic. "Let no healthy male escape his duty to become a parent" is no doubt his credo, and by no means payment of a tax can the freedom-loving male hope to escape.

If memory serves me right, there is a union of marriage brokers in Germany doing a land office business on a percentage basis which includes not only a substantial fee but 2 per cent of the bride's dowry.

I have a notion that the American bachelor who is a bachelor by principle would pay up, and pay cheerfully, to keep his freedom.

TAKING the unmarried woman, of course, would be monstrously unfair. Only in the most advanced cases of desperation do women actually propose. They try everything else first, including the "Barbie" attitude. Not that all unmarried women are unmarried from lack of opportunity to be otherwise, but I think we shall have to admit that lack of good offers is responsible for most.

Considering that all normal women have a cosmic urge toward marriage, children, and their own home, what else can one think?

In less advanced schools of thought it was considered better to have made a bad marriage than none at all. Modern girls do not subscribe to that idea, however. They are definitely more choosy in the year 1935 than they were at the turn of the century. They are more willing to work with and even for a man than the girls of pre-war days, but they have a much more definite idea of what they want in the way of husband and are less inclined to take something labeled "just as good."

CONSIDERING how willing the rank and file of marriageable women are to work shoulder to shoulder with their husbands, it might be assumed that men would be less chary of marriage, even that they might be eager to form an alliance which meant not so much an uphill struggle to prove that two can live as cheaply as one, but to demonstrate that two pay envelopes are better than one any day.

Were the vacillating bachelors given the choice of being heavily taxed or joining up with an able young woman on approximately a 50-50 basis, it seems reasonable that the rush to the license bureau would be something of a traffic jam.

I want to acknowledge the receipt of a letter from J. F. B., and to thank him for the symposium enclosed. Also to assure him that it has been forwarded to "the lady whose husband refuses to go to church with her."

I am sure that J. F. B. will understand that it is impossible for me to comment on this question, as he suggests, for a discussion of any phase of religion is hardly in my province.

HAUPTMANN WIFE HELPS HIS DEFENSE

Hauptmann's arrest. Later in the day he said he had seen it some time after September.

MORE WITNESSES

Carlstrom has been ordered by the court to appear for completion of his cross examination, expected to take half an hour, and then for re-direct examination by Reilly.

Reilly indicated he would call from 50 to 75 more witnesses after Carlstrom is excused from the stand. The first of these tomorrow will be John Manley, another alibi witness who was a customer in Fredericksen's restaurant on the night of the Lindbergh kidnaping. Manley was summoned today but was not in court.

"I've got two or three other customers, too," Reilly said. "Anybody who thinks he knows anything about Hauptmann is welcome to come here and take the stand."

STORY TOLD

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 30.—UP—On the night the news that Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., had been kidnapped went howling down the March wind, Bruno Richard Hauptmann was far away—in a cozy bakery—with a laugh on his lips.

That is what two witnesses for the defense swore today.

It must have been somebody else who laid a ladder against the wall of the Lindbergh home and carried the child from his crib, said Anna Schoeffler Hauptmann. For at 9:30 P. M. March 1, 1932, she swore, her husband led her from the bakery where she worked and took her home. It was about that time of night that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh raced up the stairs of his home, saw an empty cradle and turned to his wife and said:

"Anne, they have stolen our baby."

ANOTHER WITNESS

"Yes, it was somebody else who committed this crime," said Elbert Carlstrom. For March 1, was his birthday and he remembers well how he went into Christian Fredericksen's bakery in New York City. There, he said, sat Bruno Richard Hauptmann reading a newspaper and laughing at him. He had never seen Hauptmann before he testified, and did not see him again until he came to the witness chair today to take an oath.

Ann Schoeffler Hauptmann was trapped into contradictions today by the smooth working attorney general of the State of New Jersey, David T. Wilentz, but when the sum of all of the testimony for the defense is struck, it is likely that she will emerge as her husband's best witness.

ANNA CALM

Cleanup Of County Is Demand Of Grand Jury

would not be tolerated, it is reported the foreman said. The peace officers were also told that unless their duties were carried out properly, that some of them might find themselves facing indictments.

GARRETT ON GAMBLING

Colonel H. H. Garrett, of the stand jury also talked to the peace officers. He asserted that in all parts of the county gambling was going on, that beer parlors were deliberately violating the law by keeping open after forbidden hours, and that young girls could be seen at the bars, at all hours of the night drinking liquor. Garrett insisted that the peace officers knew of these violations, and that changes must take place.

DUTY INSTRUCTED

District Attorney Francis Healey and his deputy, Rex L. Boyer, were before the jury, and explained to the officers what the law provided in respect to their duties.

BELON IS BITTER

Captain George A. Belon of the highway patrol was very bitter in his arraignment of the peace officers, saying that after the highway patrol had arrested parties for drunkenness, reckless driving, and other violations of the motor vehicle act, that no co-operation could be secured from some of the officials. He asserted that in many instances tags had been torn up. Belon further made the statement that the highway patrol did not propose to tolerate these things in the future, and if present conditions continued, that unexpected but drastic action would be taken.

MILLER SEEKS COUNSEL

Sheriff John A. Miller presented four propositions to the grand jury for determination and recommendation concerning the conduct of his office, but no action was taken on them. Some of the members of the jury expressed the opinion that some time should be devoted to the matters presented, and it was decided to take the questions up at the next regular meeting of the jury.

The problems presented by Miller to the jury were:

1. Policy of employment of prisoners on buildings owned by the county in various communities such as veterans' halls.
2. Authority or responsibility of the sheriff in furnishing bedding and other supplies for small jails in townships of the county.
3. Determination of telephone charges to be absorbed by the sheriff's office on calls from constables and other officers throughout the county.
4. Availability of funds for the sheriff to assume criminal detection work formerly done by the district attorney, who has advised the sheriff he will not do any "policing" work. Miller declares that in such event he should have made available to him money in the district attorney's fund set aside for such work, including employment of under cover operatives, for which there is nothing available now to the sheriff. There is approximately $6000 in the fund now.

Utah Votes To Ratify Child Labor Program

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Jan. 30.—UP—Utah tonight voted 32 to 28 to ratify the child labor amendment to the national constitution, but Representative McFarlane, changing his vote from nay to aye before tabulation, announced he would move for reconsideration Thursday.

Monday the House defeated the vote 31 to 29.

The House votes down the motion by McFarlane to reconsider, the passing vote will stand and Utah will become the 22nd state to ratify the amendment.

Opposition in the House came from representatives of farm communities, who believed ratification would lead to hardships for the farmers. Labor representatives favored its passage.

MRS. MARTHA VOHNS and children, Helen and Wallace, have moved to 3231 Telegraph avenue in Oak land.

In a row, you shout "Cerrito" and you get some votes.

HOW TO BE ELECTED

You can use these votes to elect officers, and if you have enough of them, you can elect yourself as an officer for a short time, or you can turn in the votes and purchase a seat again. Salaries are attached to the offices, and during the time that you occupy one of these positions—which is for a short time—you draw the salary attached for it.

Then you are given double coupon prize tickets, keep one half of the ticket, and drop the other in a box. Twice a week there are special drawings and the prizes amount to about $25, divided into three amounts.

The same person is not permitted to throw more than one ball, each person taking his turn at a throw.

As one spectator said last night, no matter how skilled he might be, he could not show it as he only had one chance.

The above is an explanation of how the club operates. If a person knows what it all means, he knows more than the writer does.

Then it is put away to age in its own climate for two years or more to make it milder and better-tasting.
